A: Finding a here a much simpler way. The file is actually a set of small projects compiled together, each of which can be individually unzipped, opened in Visual Studio and debugged. But, from this project, you can download a project file which unzips the.rar archive. The archive contains just the project. Simply open that project file and it automatically unzips the entire archive.

Optical and chemical characterization of different regions of the human lens. We measured the refractive indices and concentrations of various components in the human lens, particularly in different regions of the lens. The optical properties of the lens were measured spectrophotometrically using polarized light. The refractive indices of regions of the lens were calculated using a matrix approach based on the density and refractive indices of individual lens components. The refractive indices of the nucleus, cortex, and epithelium were measured to be 1.356, 1.358, and 1.357, respectively. The refractive indices of fibres and interlamellar cells were measured to be 1.348 and 1.366, respectively. The calculated indices are in reasonable agreement with those previously published using a combination of light scattering and refractometry. The concentration of lens water was estimated to be 0.24, 0.25, and 0.25 mL/g in the nucleus, cortex, and epithelium, respectively. The concentration of solutes was measured using differential refractometry (DRI). The total water concentration in the lens was calculated to be 25.0 mL/g. The DRI measurements showed a fourfold decrease in sodium and a fivefold decrease in potassium concentrations in the lens epithelium compared to the cortex. The magnesium and chloride concentrations in the lens epithelium were about twofold higher than in the other regions. The calcium concentration in the epithelium was the highest compared to the other regions of the lens.

1991–92 NBA season
The 1991–92 NBA season was the 51st season of the National

Basketball Association. The reigning league champions were the New York Knicks, who would hold off the Boston Celtics 4 games to 2 in the NBA Finals to win their record fifth championship. This was the first season that Larry Bird and Magic Johnson did not play together for the Los Angeles Lakers; Bird signed with the Indiana Pacers and Johnson with the Phoenix Suns. The Chicago Bulls became the first team to reach the 60 win mark, finishing at 60-22, while the Suns f678ea9f9e
